A Game of Deep Conversation

This game was created by a team of Linguistic Justice Collaborative youth researchers. It is intended to help you engage in deep conversations related to ideas such as identity, home, sense of belonging, culture, community, personal growth, immigration, language, and more!

What the game includes: 32 cards with directions

HOW TO PLAY:

1. Taking inspiration from WHAT DO YOU MEME? Let's Get Deep: Friends Edition, there are three “levels” of questions: deep, deeper, and deepest. Start where you feel comfortable!
2. The player who speaks the most languages fluently begins the game. If all players are monolingual (speak only one language), begin with the player who has moved the most. You may then move in any order you choose.
3. The first player chooses a card and can a) answer it themselves or b) invite others to answer first. The objective is to generate conversation and learn from varied viewpoints.
4. There is no time limit to how long you can play. If you encounter a question that you are not yet comfortable answering, you may choose not to respond to it, change it, or add your own questions.
5. Enjoy getting to know one another more deeply!

Glossary:

Cultural appropriation When someone (usually in a dominant group) adopts something from a culture that is not their own (i.e. hairstyle, clothing, speech, etc.) and uses it without acknowledgement, removed from its historical and cultural context

Cultural assimilation When a minoritized group feels the pressure/need to take up the values, behaviors, and beliefs of the majority group/group in power
